You have lost your nerve and Then go back to home and mother,

She will help and love you still. Ah, there's no one like mother

Ah, there's no one like mother Here on earth or any land! None can give a cup of water Like a mother's loving hand; And when life is almost over, All around is death and gloom None can say "good-by" like mother.

Remarks On Easter Play

In appreciation of the Easte In appreciation of the Easter play given in the Brethren Church a few congratulations should be made. We feel justified in saying it was the best given by that congregation.

At the opening of the curtains one forgot their present surroundings and became an around 1900 years ago.)

The stage setting was ideal
From the tulips and daffodils raising their heads from the moss on the ground up to the shrubs, stone wall enclosing the inner garden, trees, the win-dow of Simon's house on our left and last of all the full view If you're tired and discouraged
And you've drunk the bitter cup
Just go back to mother;
She will kiss and cheer you up,

Mountains at the bach. The whole setting was as natural as human hands could make them human hands could make them The different colored foot lights enriched the setting, giving to the different scenes the desired morning and evening shades. This natural setting was the result of the well directed art work of Melvin Bowman.

The moment the characters were viewed we know that the play had received thoughtful work and effort. Each costume represented the nature of the wearer—the leper's rags, the richness of Susana's dress, the white purity of Mary and Laz-

Martha, Lazarus' sister—Ruth Brubaker These charasters with Sarah Duncan, Thelma Miller, Mre, Bowman, Jr., and Mrs. Bowman Sr. deserve the honor for this notable reproduction of Bible Times.

The audience left the Church filled with higher respect for Christ, His suffering and the effect of His life, service, healing and loving teaching on the characters of that time. So the desire and aim of the workers and characters was realized.
